

A001 Which words do you associate with your Chekhov-experience?

My evaluation, in this case, shows that most words chosen in this multi-choice question where: "Body awareness", „stimulation of imagination" and „focus". It seems that the method is perceived by many participants regardless of whether musicians or singers as „physical". The questions about the cognitive area had the most number of votes, but that was also the largest group of 5 options. It is interesting that the options for the emotional level were very low and only crossed by musicians. While the "presence" seemed more important to singers.
